Welcome!

◆ Goals:
  – Introduce you to science communication for nonscientists, both as a field and as people and opportunities
    » Media (writing, journalism, being a source)
    » Outreach
    » Policy
  – Provide hands-on experience with some feedback
  – Give resources for further exploration
First, who are we?

◆ Who are you, and how did you get here?
  – Name, field, degree, year, career goal (if known), anything else relevant

◆ Who am I?
Basic arc of the weekend

- Friday: Introduction
  - “Perspectives on science communication”

- Saturday: Writing
  - Science comm system
  - Media writing (news, features, blogs)
    - Hands-on

- Sunday: On-camera
  - Feedback
  - Developing a message
    - Delivering a message on camera
    - Feedback
  - Science policy

Resources

- blogs.cornell.edu/scicomm
- Books
Details

- Registration
- Restrooms
- Refreshments
  - Pizza & veggies tonight
  - Coffee Saturday & Sunday
    » Manndible: Sat 11-6, Sun 11-10
- Laptops Saturday & Sunday

Now, on to the panel

- “Perspectives on science communication”
  [Or: “On Being a Science Communicator”]

- Jon Miller
- Linda Rayor
- Sharon Tregaskis
- Laura Martin
- Alexis Erwin