Making Family Meal Times Fun

Summer is a great time to reconnect as a family after a long school year. Try these ideas from MyPlate to make meals more relaxed and enjoyable.

Remove distractions. Turn off the television and put away phones and tablets, so that your attention is on each other.

Talk to each other. Focus conversation on what family members did during the day, for example, what made you laugh or what you did for fun. Other conversation starters include:

- If our family lived in a zoo, what animals would we be and why?
- If you could have one super power, what would it be and why?
- If you were stranded on a desert island and could only have one food to eat, what would it be and why?

Let kids make choices. Set a healthy table and let everyone, including the kids, make choices about what they want and how much to eat.

Let everyone help. Kids learn by doing. The little one might get the napkins and older kids help with fixing foods and clean-up.

In Season This Month: Summer Squash

Zucchini and yellow squash are abundant and inexpensive in the summer months. Look for summer squash that is firm and free from soft spots or other blemishes. Store summer squash in a plastic bag in the refrigerator for up to 5 days. Do not wash the squash until you are ready to use it. Summer squash is very low in calories, with $\frac{1}{2}$ of a squash having only 20 calories, no fat or cholesterol and an excellent source of vitamin C. Shred it and add to salads, spaghetti sauce, muffins or pancakes, or chop it and add to soups, stir-fry or an omelet. Brush on marinade and grill it for a healthy side dish at a cookout.

With your child, make a visit to the nearest public library and borrow “Farmers’ Market” by Paul Brett Johnson. It tells the story of one family’s life who grows and sells produce at their local farmers’ market. Read the story with your child, then visit the farmers’ market and talk about how your farmers’ market is similar and different from the market described in the book. While you are at the market, encourage your child to choose one fruit or vegetable they would like to try and buy it so your whole family can try something new.
