Communication

Email

Retired faculty continue to receive messages sent to their Cornell email address. There are several ways that this service can be implemented.

Cornell Information Technologies handles email for all retired faculty. What about discounts when buying software? Anything more than email, e.g., webpages?

University Directory

A retired faculty member must have emeritus/a status in order to be listed in the University Directory.

Entries can be edited through WhoAml.

What is the WorkDay connection to the University Directory?

The Enterprise Directory What is this?

Campus Life

Library Access

All retired faculty have borrowing privileges and access to e-resources (license permitting).

Loan periods and other services available for retired faculty are described here.

Taking Courses

All retired faculty can enroll in up to six credits hours per semester at no charge. Just "sitting in" requires the approval of the instructor.

The Office of Continuing Education and Summer Sessions handles the registration paperwork.

Attending Events and Lectures

There are many, many interesting events on campus each week.

Handy ways to keep informed include the Cornell Events Calendar, the Cornell Sun, the Cornell Chronicle.

The Cornell Association of Professors Emeritus/a sponsors a monthly lecture series.

Athletic Events

Emeritus/a faculty and retired faculty (with 25+ years of service) get two free tickets to all athletic events (except Men's hockey).

Admission requires a Cornell ID card that identifies you as an emeritus/a faculty member or as a retired faculty member with 25+ years of service.

Additional information about tickets to athletic events is here.

Voting Rights

Faculty Senate

Emeritus/a faculty retain membership in the University Faculty and can vote in its elections.

Emeritus/a faculty can vote in elections for the Dean of Faculty and for candidates who are running for membership on the University Faculty Committee and the Nominations and Elections Committee.

Faculty Senate Meetings are open to all retired faculty.

The emeritus/a faculty have one voting member in the Senate and that individual is sponsored through the Cornell Association of Professors Emeritus/a.

College Meetings

The frequency of college meetings varies considerably from college to college as do voting rights.

Consult with your college dean about specific details.

Department Meetings

A department meeting may be about curriculum, requirements, promotion, or hiring. Whether you can attend and vote may depend upon the topic.

Consult with your department chair about specific details.

Teaching and Research

Office Space

An emeritus/a faculty member actively engaged in teaching or research may retain a private office at the discretion of the unit if space is available.

Emeritus/a faculty who remain engaged in unit activities but not to the extent of specific teaching or research responsibilities, may be provided shared or open plan office space if space is available within a unit. These shared offices are intended to allow an individual to maintain contact with the unit, discipline, and colleagues. Office space guidelines

Laboratory/Experimental Space

An emeritus/a faculty member who maintains an active research program may be provided laboratory space at the discretion of the unit if space is available.

An active research program that is characterized by:

- (a) sufficient external funding to support their research activities including the support of technical assistants, post-doctoral fellows, and graduate students;
- (b) continuing contributions to the department's academic mission and vision;
- (c) demonstrable contributions to the discipline through the propagation of the products of their research in relevant mediums (e.g. books, articles, chapters, patents, presentations, etc.)

Hire Back

Emeritus/a faculty are eligible for hire-back arrangements for specified periods of time in accordance with the needs of the department and college.

Emeritus status is a continuing appointment status, inactive until a “rehire” appointment is approved.

Because they involve a change in employment status, hire back arrangements require careful consultation with the Office of Human Resources. [\[Link\]](#)

External Funding

Participation as a Principal Investigator is conditional on the availability of resources as determined by the department chairperson, dean, and/or center director.

The Office of the Vice Provost for Research is responsible for the policy that governs principal investigator eligibility. Any salary paid to the faculty member in such a case must appear as an approved item in the agreement with the sponsor. Such post-retirement appointments are reviewed periodically and always when a new agreement with a sponsor is proposed.

Graduate Student Supervision

When graduate faculty members retire or resign from the University, they resign their membership on the graduate faculty. Graduate faculty members who retire or resign from the University automatically remain on special committees on which they were serving at the time of retirement/resignation for up to one year.

If the retired faculty member leaves the Ithaca or Geneva area and wishes to remain on a special committee beyond one year, the student must petition to have the former graduate faculty member appointed as co-chair or minor member. If a faculty member resigned from the university and wishes to remain on a special committee beyond one year, the student must petition to have the former graduate faculty member appointed as a co-chair or minor member.

Graduate School Professor

By vote of their graduate fields, emeritus/a faculty may be granted the title Graduate Professor of (Field). This designation, which can be used on external grant and contract applications, enables an individual to retain the rights of other graduate faculty in the field and to submit grant and contract applications that provide up to 50 percent of the individual’s pre-retirement salary.

The General Committee of the Graduate School has approved this title for renewable five-year terms. A Graduate School Professor may continue to serve either as chair or minor member of special committees on which he or she was serving at the time of retirement. Otherwise, a Graduate School Professor may serve only as minor member or co-chair, and only if he or she resides in the Ithaca area and the committee includes a second or minor member in the student’s major field. More details here.

Legal Defense and Indemnification

While retirement as an emeritus/a professor does not automatically confer coverage under the University’s Legal Defense and Indemnification Policy, emeritus/a professors may be so covered if they are performing services for the University at the prior written request of the dean of the college or director of the division upon approval by the Provost, even if they receive no remuneration for such services.

Coverage would be with respect to claims that arise from authorized duties. To qualify, an individual must also request such defense and/or indemnification and cooperate in the defense of any action or proceeding as provided in the University’s Legal Defense and Indemnification Policy.

Here is the formal policy.

Reimbursement for Professional Activity

Upon retirement, an emeritus/a faculty member may receive $2,000 per year from their college for a period of five years for reimbursement of professional activities. Money not spent in a particular year may be carried forward into subsequent years, but not beyond the fifth year.

OLD VERSIONS

Upon retirement, emeritus faculty receive $2,000 per year from their college for a period of five years for reimbursement of professional activities. Those who wish to take advantage of this benefit should seek approval from their department chair and college dean in advance. Money not spent in a particular year may be carried forward into subsequent years, but not beyond the fifth year.

from [CAPE: Perks and Privileges]

Upon retirement, faculty will receive $2,000 per year from their college for a period of five years after retirement in an account for reimbursement for professional activities. Money not spent in a particular year may be carried forward into subsequent years, but not beyond the fifth year.
