

Tick Surveillance Paid Internship

PUBLIC HEALTH ENTOMOLOGY

Assist with Tick Blitz in New York State. Gain hands on experience in field biology in a real-world public health entomology program. Learn tick surveillance field techniques and tick identification!

Tick Sampling

Collect ticks from the environment in NY

Science Communication

Gain skills in science communication

Tick Identification

Learn how to identify several ticks species

Cornell Department of Entomology, Harrington Lab Paid Internship

All students are encouraged to apply, especially students from groups traditionally underrepresented in STEM

Interested students should send a resume and cover letter to Aine Lehane (al2432@cornell.edu) for consideration.